Co-operative Values and Principles

Definition

A co-operative is an autonomous association of persons united voluntarily to meet their common economic, social and cultural needs and aspirations through a jointly-owned and democratically controlled enterprise.

Values

Co-operatives are based on the values of self help, self responsibility, democracy, equality, equity and solidarity. In the tradition of their founders, co-operative members believe in the ethical values of honesty, openness, social responsibility, and caring for others.

Principles

The co-operative principles are guidelines by which co-operatives put their values into practice.

1st principle: voluntary and open membership

Co-operatives are voluntary organisations, open to all persons able to use their services and willing to accept responsibilities of membership, without gender, social, racial, political, or religious discrimination.

2nd principle: democratic member control

Co-operatives are democratic organisations controlled by their members, who actively participate in setting their policies and making decisions. Men and women serving as elected representatives are accountable to the membership. In primary co-operatives members have equal voting rights (one member one vote), and co-operatives at other levels are also organised in a democratic manner.

3rd principle: member economic participation

Members contribute equitably to, and democratically control, the capital of their co-operative. At least part of that capital is usually the common property of the co-operative. Members usually receive limited compensation, if any, on capital subscribed as a condition of membership. Members allocate surpluses for any of the following purposes: developing their co-operative, possibly by setting up reserves, part of which at least would be indivisible; benefiting members in proportion to their transactions with the co-operative; and supporting other activities approved by the membership.

4th principle: autonomy and independence

Co-operatives are autonomous, self help organisations controlled by their members. If they enter into agreements with other organisations, including governments, or raise capital from external sources, they do so on terms that ensure democratic control by their members and maintain their co-operative autonomy.

5th principle: education, training and information

Co-operatives provide education and training for their members, elected representatives, managers and employees so they can contribute effectively to the development of their co-operatives. They inform the general public – particularly young people and opinion leaders – about the nature and benefits of co-operation.

6th principle: co-operation among co-operatives

Co-operatives serve their members most effectively and strengthen the Co-operative Movement by working together through local, national, regional and international structures.

7th principle: concern for community

Co-operatives work for the sustainable development of their communities through policies approved by their members.

- 12.5 The first appointment of an auditor shall be made within 3 calendar months of the registration of the Society and shall be made by the Board if no meeting of the members of the Society is held within time. The Board may appoint an auditor to fill any casual vacancy occurring between meetings of members of the Society.
- 12.6 An auditor appointed to audit the accounts and balance sheet of the Society for the preceding year of account (whether by a members' meeting or by the Board) shall be reappointed as auditor of the Society for the current year of account (whether or not any resolution expressly reappointing them has been passed) unless;

On receipt by the Society of notice of such an intended resolution, the Society shall immediately send a copy of the notice to the retiring auditor, if it practicable to do so, the Society shall give notice to its members of the intended resolution at the same time and in the same way as it gives notice in accordance with these Rules of the meeting at which the resolution is to be moved.
